The Lash of a Fiend

would have been about as welcome to A. Cooper of Oswego, N. Y., as a merciless lung-racking cough that defied all remedies for years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lungs, lagrippe, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, or hay fever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. A trial convinces. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. It's positively guaranteed by W. H. Windrow.

Reward.

The less you require looking after, the more able you are to stand alone and complete your tasks, the greater your reward. Then if you cannot only do your work, but direct intelligently and effectively the efforts of others, your reward is in exact ratio, and the more people you direct, and the higher the intelligence you can rightly lend, the more valuable is your life.—Elbert Hubbard.

Further Particulars.
The man who was going to St. Ives had just met the seven wives.
Their combined luggage, as has been narrated, consisted of 49 sacks containing in the aggregate 343 cats and 2,401 kittens.
"Ah," said he, pleasantly, "what have we here? A traveling cat show?"
"No, sir," they explained; "we are answering a want ad."
Thus, one by one, does scientific research continue to solve the mysteries of the ages.

Their European Journey.
"And did you go through Berlin while touring abroad?" asked the caller.
"Did we, dear?" said the wife to her husband.
"Yes," replied the busy man from behind his paper; "don't you remember we bought some gasoline there?"
"And Paris—did you stop in Paris?"
"Did we, dear?" asked the wife of her better half.
"Why, of course. Don't you know we busted a tire there and had to have another put on."

A Remarkable Boy.
Wogges—You seem to be very proud of your youngest son. He must be a very remarkable youth.
Boggs—He is. Judging from the papers, I think he is the only 12-year-old boy in the country who hasn't invented a perfect wireless telegraph, submarine boat or aeroplane.—Puck.

Answer.
A correspondent thinks to get us into trouble by propounding a theological poser. He asks "Why did St.
Paul make it compulsory for women to wear their hats in church?"
Easy, old chap. He wanted to make sure that all the women would go to church.—Washington Star.

Different Conditions.
"When I was a girl," said Mrs. Mc-Gudley, "a young man who was engaged to a girl asked her for a lock of her hair."
"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne, "but in those days girls could afford to give away hair. They raised it themselves instead of buying it."

In every country—in every clime—its sales exceed all other bottled beers.

CHEERFULNESS is its own reward!

A SMILE--of the right kind--will help you on!

HE is happiest whose conscience is void of offense!

LOOK on the bright side, it is the right side; and no situation is ever so bad but it might be worse.

HE who stills the angry gnawings of an envious heart and is content to take what his merits win has won the noblest success!

ATASCOSA county is torn from center to circumference over the proposition to remove the county seat from Pleasant to Jourdanton. These county seat fights are something fierce and it takes years and years to heal the sores they make.

EDITOR Davis of the Hondo Anvil Herald would be in favor of a hog law if sufficiently encouraged by the city clientele. He says: "It's no use to ask can Hondo's hog pens 'come back.' This scent 'hasn't went' yet."--San Antonio Express.

THE Uvalde Leader-News thinks that our dry farmers, tiring of Hondo deep well water, will be attracted to Uvalde by her pure spring water. You must offer them a better inducement, Brother; people never tire of Hondo's pure and wholesome beverage--for bathing purposes!

It has been our fortune to be misunderstood and abused by men of whom we had a right to expect better things on more than one occasion. But we have lived to see some who hated us the worst turn to our warmest friends.

It has ever been our effort to do the right as we see it and this in the end always wins.

BRYAN is out of harmony with his party in Nebraska over the liquor problem and is writing some of the most illogical rot we ever saw come from the pen of an alleged great man. And therein he is doing more to disrupt his party in that state than is the strongest efforts of the Republicans.

SCHOOL is announced to open on the 26th instant. With more room and an increase in the faculty it is hoped that this year will eclipse any in the school's previous history in successful work. Parents can greatly facilitate this by having their children ready for a prompt entrance and seeing that they attend regularly.

TOM Watson, the brainiest man in Georgia today, was hissed from the stage by an audience which he was attempting to address in enlightened Atlanta the other day. And a few days ago a man in Roosevelt's audience out west denounced him as a liar. Verily, even the great ones are getting their's in these caloric dog days.

THE Anvil Herald has always given the free use of its columns impartially to the various churches and church societies of the town for the dissemination of news pertaining thereto. It is still ready to accord this courtesy to one and all and when any such matter is missed from our columns you may know we have not been supplied with it.

COTTON is still coming in rapidly but the season will not last much longer. The yield will be little better than a bale to ten acres on the average. The good price for the staple has helped materially but with the large quantity of feed to buy much of the proceeds will go out of the country. Two short crop years in succession makes it hard on our people but old citizens are predicting that next year will be a good crop year, so let us all take courage, look upon the bright side and hope and labor for better things.

It is earnestly hoped that the contract to go 1600 feet in the new well will strike an artesian flow. It would enable the town to put in water mains and fire-plugs and cause the present exorbitant fire insurance rates to take a tumble. Water would be available for watering trees and shrubbery in our yards and parks and our town would take on a much prettier appearance. The long needed ice factory would also be within the possibilities of the near future. But even if we can't have all these, the striking of a flow of water equal to that in the present well will be of incalculable benefit to our town.

DR. MOORE, of Seguin, told an audience in Corpus Christi the other day that Congressman John Garner was a hybrid Democrat. John Garner has never been in the habit of mixing either his politics or his soda water, and his democracy has been so acceptable to the voters of the Fifteenth district that no man has ever met him in a fight without being carried off the field of battle in an ambulance. If the doctor's diagnosis in medicine is as far wrong as it is in politics, he probably owns several private grave-yards.--Laredo Times. Don't be too hard on the good Doctor. The only trouble with him is he has his politics mixed and every time he has made a speech in Medina county he has increased Judge Garner's majority.

THE Texas Dry Farming Congress is in session this week at Eagle Pass. If this congress can teach Southwest Texas how to make one blade of grass grow where two have dried up it will have accomplished much of a beneficent nature for the country.--Hondo Anvil Herald. Hondo Davis should have come to the Congress and he would have learned that very thing. Then he could have gone back home and told all of those farmers in Medina county how it was done. However, there was a fine delegation from Medina county and everyone will say that they learned what Editor Davis wants to know. We want to see Hondo Davis at the meeting of the Southwest Texas Press and Commercial Association at Sander-son on September 16-17, and if he shows up we will forgive him all the sins of omission he has committed!--Eagle Pass News-Guide. It was worth miles and miles of travel to bask in the smiles of Joe's forgiveness. But until the successors of Terrible Tom and his automatons of the 30th and 31st Legislatures restore to the fraternity the right of contract or the walking improves, we will have to enjoy Joe's forgiveness by "absent treatment."

THE RURAL TELEPHONE

Sooner or later, Mr. Farmer, you'll want a telephone in your home. When you get it, you'll wonder how you got along without it, for nothing can do the telephone's work. Its services become indispensable for calling a physician; for summoning help in a hurry; for ordering supplies when it's inconvenient to go to town; for talking to neighbors or friends; or for communicating with persons wherever there's a Bell telephone.

The farmer without a telephone is like a farm with no labor-saving machinery.

We have a plan for furnishing you and your neighbors with full local and long-distance telephone facilities at a figure so low it will surprise you.

Dunlay News.

BY SLEEPY

ED. ANVIL HERALD:—

A light shower fell here the middle of last week. It cooled off the atmosphere a little and settled the dust for a few days.

Mrs. Emil Lebold gave a quilting bee to a number of her friends. While a lot of talking was done, it can't be said that the ladies were not busy sewing, as two quilts were finished in a very short time. For refreshments beer, soda water, lemonade and cake were served. Those present besides the hostess and her daughters were Miss Lama Davis and Mesdames Wm. Burger, Adolph Haby and Joe Steinle.

Miss Emma Lebold spent Sunday and Monday with friends at Hondo.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Haby attended the Shooting Club meeting at Quibi Sunday.

Mrs. Emil Lebold and daughter, Miss Nora, went to Hondo Tuesday morning returning the same evening.

Robert Breiten and sisters, Misses Emma and Lisette, and Misses Bella and Nella Brucks and Henry Schwere attended the dance at Vandenberg Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferd. Boehme of Rio Medina passed through here Monday on their way home from Biry.

Harm J. Lindeberg, one of Quibi's most prosperous farmers' was in town in business yesterday.

Mrs. Aug. Bihartz of Pearsall visited relatives and friends in the burg a few days last week.

Merchant L. Haby visited Castroville Sunday afternoon. He was accompanied home by Grandma Carle.

Adolph Haby had a well drilled by Mr. B. H. Brucks a few weeks ago. Plenty water was found and now he is busy erecting a windmill and laying pipes to his pasture. Mr. Brucks also finished a well for Mr. L. A. Haby a few days ago. Plenty of water was found at about 80 feet. Water is plentiful now in Dunlay. All we want now for the S. P. Co. to sink a deep well here.

Ross Holloway and Henry Emery were Hondo visitors Sunday.

Mr. Ed Haby sold three horses to Mr. Schwartz a few days ago.

Capt. E. Lebold attended the shooting at Quibi last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer attended church in Castroville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bischoff of Senior, Texas, spent a few days with their children, Mr. and Mrs. John Wiemers.

HONDO, - - TEXAS

Gustave Rothe was a caller at this office yesterday. He informed us that he will leave soon for Austin to enter a University preparatory school.

Otis B. Goodall, Superintendent of Cotton Statistics for Texas, was here Monday and appointed J. P. Lippold as statistician for Medina, Uvalde and Zavala counties to succeed Geo. I. Wilson, deceased.

W. B. SoRelle, the window dresser, was here this week and arranged the Windows at Schmitt & Steinhardt's Big Department Store with the first showing of Fall Goods. You should have a look at the windows.

Mimke Saathoff was in town Saturday and informed us that the Anvil Herald misquoted him recently when it reported him saying his section had had a fine rain. The fineness consisted in being too fine to be seen.

August Kempf found a pole cat in his bath room early Friday morning and dispatched his catfish with a target rifle very promptly, not, however, before it had made its presence known by an odor more pungent than pleasant.

Elsewhere we publish the official statements of both of Hondo's banks. These statements speak volumes for the solid financial condition of these institutions, and the large amount of deposits show a large money supply for the country.

The Boyce Bros. began drilling as announced Friday afternoon of last week and are busy pounding away on the rock that for many months has blocked the progress of the drill. Messrs. Boyce expect to strike water as soon as they pass through the rock.

E. G. Garwood has traded the Kueck place to W. E. Newton for a farm near Yancey and Mr. Newton is figuring on moving to town to reside. Mr. Garwood has also purchased Leo Brown's interest in the Hondo Garage and Mr. Brown has gone to the breezy west to reside.

HONDO, TEXAS

A Colonist of Canaan

By Izola Forrester

The Southwestern flier drew up at Canaan Junction. It never stopped, merely slowed up long enough to throw out the mail sack, and give the curly-headed boy in the express car a chance to call hello to Nell.

But today it stopped, stopped while one man swung off a sleeper, and the porter dropped a suit case and grip on the platform beside him. Nell stood in the doorway of the little red depot, waving her hand to the curly-headed boy, while the train pulled out. The starched cuffs of her blue-and-white shirtwaist were turned up to her elbows as a concession to the heat and the business duties of a Canaan Junction. Many a warm, tired traveler in the dusty, stifling cars turned for a second look at her as she was good to rest your eyes on.

The man left behind was young, so young that he had outgrown his years, and there was a latent, careless strength, mixed with awkwardness about him that reminded one of a cub. Nell took one look at him and caught her breath sharply. She knew him in an instant, but there was a bare chance that he had forgotten her. It had been four years, and four years is a lengthy stretch when one is 17.

He set the suit case down under the ticket shelf, and went back to the water bucket.

"It's hot enough down here, isn't it?" She watched him drain the tin cup a second time before she answered: "We don't mind it much."

"I suppose not. I came from the north. Don't suppose you know anybody here named Acton?"

The girl's hand closed tightly over the package of letters she had drawn from the mail sack. Her back was toward him. But her voice was steady and natural.

"No, I don't."

"You'd be pretty likely to know, handling all the mail, and so on, wouldn't you?"

"Oh, yes, I would know. I know the name of everybody in this town!"

"Except mine."

He came over to the ledge and leaned one elbow on it, smiling in at her cheerfully. She did not answer.

"Maybe he's using a different name," he went on, presently. "He had plenty of cause to change it, the Lord knows, when he started down this way. I know he's here all right, and I'm going to find him."

She Knew Him in an Instant.

The telegraph instrument set up its call, and she sat down to answer it. When she rose her face was flushed slightly, and anybody well acquainted with Nell would have surmised that she was on the war path. Jopman, the town nearest the state line, was asking about Colonel Acton Canaan Junction again stated that the party was unknown there.

"Is there a chief of police here in town?"

"Chief of police!" She flashed a startled glance at him. "No. There's a constable. He's the undertaker, too."

"Nice, handy combination," he laughed. "You people down here in this small, new town certainly economize on public offices. Thanks, I'll hunt him up. Goodby."

"Goodby," she watched him as he went along the road towards the main street, his long, easy strides kicking up a flurry of dust behind him. The whistle over at the factory was blowing for noon. She caught up the telephone receiver and called a number.

"I want to speak to father, please. Is he there? Well, wait. Give him a message. Tell him to come over to the depot right away. Tell him to come around by the river road, not Main street. I want to show him something there."

Then she waited. It seemed hours before she caught sight of the dear old figure, swinging along the river road, his gray felt hat well back on his head, his gray mustache and imperial giving added distinction to the fine, gracious face. The tears rushed to her eyes as she watched him, but she controlled herself, and met him with a smile.

"Sit down and rest a minute, honey. You've got 20 minutes. They—they've wired for you to come down to Alcazar. It's some committee meeting, I believe." She turned away, and bent over a time table, so that he should not see her tell-tale eyes. "You can make the 1:10 local, dear. And—don't bother about coming back tonight. I'm sure they need you down there."

"In a rush, aren't they?" laughed the colonel, wiping off his forehead. "Guess it's about their new town hall. It consists of four flags on a center plot at present, with a geranium bed in the middle. I suppose I'll have to go. Be all right, won't you, Nell?"

She nodded and smiled. It was 15 minutes now. She watched the road to Main street every now and then, half expecting Fate to play her a trick and send the long-limbed stranger back again. It wasn't wrong. She told herself over and over again, it wasn't. They had no right to come after him now, and ruin his whole life. It would have been different if he had been guilty.

A hundred suggestions and plans swept through her mind as she listened to him chat of the new town hall at Alcazar. Then all at once there was a dead silence, and she turned quickly. The colonel stood in the center of the little depot, his hands clasped comfortably under his coat tails, his lips pursed up for a whistle. And he was looking at the suitcase under the window ledge, a suitcase with the owner's name written boldly across it, "J. P. Dexter."

Nell leaned her hands on the desk and waited tensely. She had forgotten to hide the suitcase.

"Well, honey girl, the cat wouldn't stay put, would it? And you going to all this trouble just to try and save your dad from himself." The colonel spoke very calmly, very reflectively, almost with a glint of humor in his blue eyes, as he saw the look on Nell's face. "When did Jack Dexter get here?"

"Father, listen." She put both hands up on his shoulders and leaned her face against his chin. She was just about on a level with his chin. "You must take this train. Surely, when you know you're in the right, it doesn't matter what other people think. They don't know for sure that you are here yet. The night operator said you were, but I know he isn't certain. I can turn Jack Dexter away. He didn't know me at all. Think of them sending him down here to bring you back, the boy that owed everything to you."

"He had to do his duty if they sent him. I certainly wish it had been some one else. I always set a heap by Jack. He's a right fine boy. Studied law with the judge after we left, Nell. I understand he's prosecuting attorney."

From the bridge came the whistle of the 1:10. She was on time to the minute. The ticker was calling the Canaan operator, and she went to it, the tears streaming from her eyes. As the local pulled in the colonel stood in the doorway and swept his broad-brimmed felt hat off in a general salute.

And the 1:10 pulled out without its extra passenger.

Somebody came hurrying along the platform and into the depot.

"I can't locate him yet, but I'm going to stay over—" Jack Dexter stopped short and whistled softly under his breath. The colonel held Nell close to him, and smiled.

"How are you, boy, how are you?" he said, heartily. "I can't offer you my hand, because, you see, they're both engaged. I'm mighty glad to see you again, Jack. Just take your suitcase right over to my house, sir, and we'll have a good dinner before we start north tonight. He put up one hand as Jack started to explain, and shook his head warningly. "No need for explanations. I understand the situation thoroughly. I don't want to disturb Nell here, with any of the details."

"But, Colonel Acton," Jack exclaimed. "You don't know what I'm after, sir. I came down to let you know that that indictment is squashed flatter than a pancake. The whole city is waiting to welcome you back, if you'll only come. The president of the bank confessed to the full amount, swore he had made a scapegoat of you, sir, and then gracefully committed suicide. It was the wisest thing he'd done in five years."

"Well, now, that's too bad," the colonel said, regretfully. "He need not have done that. I was comfortable down here. It's home to Nell and myself. In fact, we feel rather responsible for the future of Canaan. Mighty fine of you to come down and let me know, Jack, though; mighty fine."

"I wanted to be the first to tell you, sir," Dexter's hand gripped the colonel's closely. "A crowd of the newspaper boys were after your trail, but I knew you'd be in the same place where you left word we could find you if you were wanted."

The colonel smiled in a pleased, comfortable fashion all his own.

"We keep our word, we Actons," he said. "Don't we, Nell?"

"I can hardly say that," she faltered. "I—I didn't tell the truth to Mr. Dexter when he asked me if I knew you. I just couldn't. I don't know what he must think of me."

"Thank of you?" gasped Dexter. "I think you are the bravest, truest, bluest—"

The colonel coughed and glanced at his watch.

"We will all lunch in honor of the occasion over at the hotel, sir. Jack, just give my little girl your arm along Main street. I'll lock up the station and carry the suitcase until the next train comes along. No, sir, I can't permit it, as my guest, you will allow me to have my way." Jack hesitated still, looking down at the heavy suitcase, and the colonel gave him a delicate poke in the side. "Ladies first, sir, right about face—forward, march!"

ROUGH ON WOMEN TRAVELERS

Country Visitor to City Saw at Once Disadvantages of Subway Entrances.

A genial Joshua, who runs a chicken plantation and cornstalk refinery down in the Salem county section of Jersey, came to this city the other day to buy a pair of winter boots and a box of axle grease, says the Philadelphia Telegraph. After rambling around in the ferry zone for a while he bravely cut loose and started up Market street.

He had not proceeded far when he saw an employee of the Philadelphia Electric Company lift the lid of a manhole and crawl down into the conduit chamber. Evidently the sight filled Joshua with much thought, for he gazed earnestly toward the manhole for a minute or two and then went over to a cop who was holding fast to a sunny spot on the corner.

"Excuse me, constable," said Joshua, addressing the police person, "but hain't they got a radrome down in the ground under this street?"

"They certainly have," indulgently answered the officer. "It is the subway."

"That's what they told me," responded the farmer, with another glance toward the center of the street, "but I hain't never seen it. Howsomever, I jes' seen a feller cawlin' down ter ketch a train, an' sez I to meself, them holes may be all right for their men passengers, but they must me mighty derned inconvenient fer the women folks."

Mesdames Curry and Eversole.

It is hard to find a remedy suited to the ills of children, yet Mrs. Curry of Hindsboro, Ill., and Mrs. Eversole of Trowbridge, Ill., claim to have found it, and they are naturally anxious to let the rest of the world know. They say this remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great laxative, tonic and regulator. It is one of the few remedies useful to children that does not contain narcotics. It will do all that is claimed, and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Illinois. It is sold by all druggists at 6c and $1 a bottle.

A Perfectly Awful Cigar.

"I bought a cigar named after you, today," said the low comedian, who looked rather pale. "Really?" smiled the prima donna. "I wasn't aware I had so great an honor thrust upon me." "Honor! Suffering smokers!" gasped the comedian; "but I must not say more; rest assured, little one, your secret is safe with me!"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Money and Happiness.

It is not the mere accumulation of money that hurts men. It is the sacrifices they are willing to make for money. It is the desire to abandon themselves to unwholesome self-gratification; to become walking appetites; to lose all obligation for self-restraint, all obligation for laborious days and temperate nights—this is what persuades philosophers that the root of evil is money. For without labor and self-mortification and the acquirement of that strength, both moral and physical, which comes to him who has learned to say "No" to his own appetites and his own desires, there is no truer greatness, no advance to those higher levels of character and spiritual discernment which marks men off from one another as they mark men off from the beasts of the field.—Pittsburg Press.

Happiness and Sorrow.

In happiness there are far more regions unknown than there are in misfortune. The voice of misfortune is ever the same; happiness becomes the more silent as it penetrates deeper. He is the happiest man who best understands his happiness; for he is of all men most fully aware that it is only the lofty idea, the untiring, courageous, human idea, that separates gladness from sorrow.—Maeterlinck.

A Good Example

"I am a good example," writes Mrs. R. L. Bell, of McAlester, Okla., "of what Cardui will do for suffering women."

"I suffered with my head and back, for over six years, and although I tried everything, I never could get anything to do me any good, until I began to take Cardui. Cardui has surely helped me and built me up and I am so thankful that I have found something that will do me good. I feel so much stronger and better than I have in a long time."

It is well to make up your mind before you are sick what medicine you will take when you are sick.

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

You will be glad to take it when you are tired, miserable and when life seems a weary grind. It will put new thoughts into your head, fresh courage into your mind. If not sick now, at least burn Cardui on to the pages of your memory, so that when you are sick you will ask for it without thinking.

If sick or weak, get a bottle today. At all druggists.

Good Whiskey—Used Judiciously

is a splendid natural tonic, and its value is acknowledged by the world's leading physicians. For medicinal purposes absolute purity and ripe old age are the principal requirements.

Sunny Brook Whiskey

combines these qualities in an unusual degree. It is distilled from the finest grain and purest water in the world, and is aged in heavily charred oaken barrels for many years until it has acquired the rich mellowness for which it is famous. Genuine SUNNY BROOK PURE FOOD Whiskey bears the Government Green Stamp on each bottle, which is official proof that the Whiskey was distilled, aged and bottled under the supervision of U. S. Government Inspectors.

All dealers handling PURE Liquors sell it.

Here is a Remedy That Will Cure Eczema.—"We Prove It."

Why waste time and money experimenting with greasy salves and lotions, trying to drive the eczema germ from underneath the skin when the Windrow Drug Store guarantees ZEMO, a clean liquid preparation for external use to rid the skin of the germ life that causes the trouble? One application will relieve the itching and often times one bottle is sufficient to cure a minor case of eczema.

In over 2,000 towns and cities in America, the leading druggist has the agency for ZEMO and he will tell you of the marvelous cures made by this clean, simple treatment. ZEMO is recognized as the cleanest and most popular treatment for eczema, pimples, dandruff and all other forms of skin or scalp affections whether on infant or grown person. Will you try a bottle on our recommendation? W. H. Windrow's Drug Store.

Use of the Hardy Ferns.

Graceful effects may be developed in foregrounds, in drives through glades, and in many other positions, by the bold use of the larger hardy ferns. Few people seem to give much attention to hardy ferns, and in most gardens, if there are any at all, they are usually planted in some out of the way spot where no one sees them.

Rarely do we find them well grown or an important item in the garden picture. The bold and handsome ferns of our own and other countries deserve something better than to be condemned to a miserable existence among a lot of decaying roots, which the conventional idea always associated with them.—Garden Illustrated.

How Disease Starts.

Nine times out of ten chronic diseases like rheumatism, kidney trouble, heart disease, skin disease, etc., start with a disorder of the stomach or bowels. To cure constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, sour stomach, heartburn, etc., take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which cures and prevents these diseases. It is absolutely guaranteed to do what is claimed, and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by all druggists at 50c and $1 a bottle.

Nothing in It.

"I don't believe there's anything in what the joke papers say." "What's the matter?" "My daughter's been a stenographer four years now, and her boss hasn't asked her to marry him yet."

When Merit Wins.

When the medicine you take cures your disease, tones up your system and makes you feel better, stronger and more vigorous than before. That is what Foley Kidney Pills do for you, in all cases of backache, headache, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness and general weakness that is caused by any disorder of the kidneys or bladder. W. H. Windrow.

FACING THE CUSTOM HOUSE

American Women, According to a Magazine Writer, Find the Customs Law Peculiarly Oppressive.

We American women find the customs law peculiarly oppressive because it is almost the only law with which most of us ever come into contact, says a writer in the Century. We go about our task at home, live out our days and die, without a thought of legal obligations. We are proud of our freedom, too, when we travel, glorying in it, boasting of personal liberty as the very breath of our national existence, demanding, because of it, the overthrow of so many social traditions abroad that our less-favored sisters on the other side regard us with awe and envy. Then we start for home. One day a steamship steward knocks at our stateroom door, hands us the government's printed form of declaration, and the "Notice to Passengers." Suddenly, for the first time in our lives, we find ourselves "bump up against" the law. Some of us cannot understand it. We tremble; our hearts beat. We have consultations with friends and strangers. Blood-curdling stories are told. We can think of nothing else, talk of nothing else. Where have we packed our new things, where our old? Will they dig out everything? Will they believe us? Those little presents we have brought in—are they presents until we have declared them? And so on, and so on, until our last days become a nightmare compared with which seasickness is a paradise. Neither is there any man to protect us with any of those liberal "interpretations" which stand most of us in stead. We must go through the ordeal as we go through death—alone!

Skin Affections, Whether on Infant or Grown Person Cured by Zemo and Zemo Soap.—An Unusual Offer.

The Windrow Drug Store says to every person, be it man, woman or child, who has an irritated, tender or itching skin to come to our store and procure a bottle of ZEMO and a cake of ZEMO soap and if you are not entirely satisfied with results, come back and get your money. So confident are we of the efficacy of this clean, simple treatment, that we make you this unusual offer.

ZEMO is a clear liquid for external use that has cured so many cases of eczema, pimples, dandruff and other forms of skin eruption. ZEMO and ZEMO soap are the most economical as well as the cleanest and most effective treatment for affections of the skin or scalp, whether on infant or grown person.

Feminine Nature of Crowds.

Crowds are everywhere distinguished by feminine characteristics, not always revealing the best instincts which are associated with the nature of woman but this crowd was remarkable for its kindly tolerance, womanly tenderness and consideration for the woman and children and for those who were overcome by the long hours of waiting and the sufferings of the heat and thirst. So much attention has been paid to the criminal actions of crowds that the influence they exert has come to be looked upon as necessarily demoralizing. History has many instances of the heroism of crowds; it is by witnessing the disinterested unselfishness of such a crowd as this that one can hope to realize in some measure the devotion and self-sacrifice of which collectivities are capable.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause breakdowns. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters, the matchless tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c. at W. H. Windrow's.

Voices.

He was eager to kiss her. And she? She heard two voices speaking, and one was the voice of the mother that bore her. "Don't!" it said. But the other, which was the voice of all her mothers since Eve, said: "Do!" And the majority rules.—Puck.

A Man of Iron Nerve.

Indomitable will and tremendous energy are never found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills, the matchless regulators, for keen brain and strong body. 25c at W. H. Windrow's.

Chameleon Woman.

You may be sure a woman loves a man when she uses his expressions, tells his stories or imitates his manner. This gives a secret delight; for imitation is a kind of artless flattery, and mightily favors the principles of self-love.

"You Can Fool All the People Part of the Time and Some People All the Time"

It is a very common occurrence for some piano dealers to advertise a lot of unknown makes, of unknown value, at prices that are supposed to effect a saving to the buyer, but eventually the unsophisticated discover that their supposed bargain was a rather expensive purchase.

Our instruments are standard makes and priced in accordance with their intrinsic value. Every piano in our showroom bears the guarantee of the maker in addition to our own. When you purchase a piano at this store you can depend on the quality and by reason of our one-price method you know positively that some other individual has not bought a similar instrument at a lesser cost.

The cultivated, the discriminating, the prominent, almost always use one of these makes:

MASON & AMLIN, HARDMAN, BUSH & GERTS, HARRINGTON, HENSEL

The greater the pianist's ability, the more cultured the ear of the hearer, the higher will be the appreciation of the rich and colorful tones of these instruments. They embody a distinct individuality, bringing to the surface the best there is in composer and pianist alike. Our easy payment plan will enable you to use the piano while paying for it. Old instruments taken in exchange.
